WHAT MAKES AN EFFECTIVE EDUCATION LEADER?

THE NEED:

School communities can only grow to the capacity of their leaders. And research shows what qualities effective principals possess for effectively leading schools:

1. They shape a vision of academic success for all students.
2. They create a climate hospitable to education.
3. They cultivate leadership in others.
4. They improve classroom instruction.
5. They manage people, data and processes with the goal of school improvement (Wallace Foundation, 2013). Because school leaders wear many hats, a leader can only grow in his or her leadership capacity with focused reflection and practice.

GROW YOUR LEADERSHIP CAPACITY:

GROW YOUR LEADERSHIP SERIES (GYLS) is an in-depth professional development program for principals, assistant principals or other essential school leaders. Participants join a leadership cohort for live 75-minute virtual sessions of professional development each month. Education leaders learn research-based content and instruction in best practices from expert principal-leadership consultation. In addition to monthly GYLS meetings and coursework, members also are invited to participate in weekly virtual mastermind meetings.
